SHIPPING COSTS OF WORK

All postage and packaging costs will be the responsibility of the artist. Each artist must arrange their own insurance for damage, loss or any accident occurring during transport and during exhibitions. You are responsible for the delivery and return of your artwork. (The works will be well and carefully packaged by us upon return if they are not sold. Please let us know for shipments by carrier and indicate

- Imperatively the name and address of the artist and the destination

- We will give you an example of a pro forma invoice to create, you will need to request an EORI number assigned directly on the internet which we obtain immediately and it is free.

- Quality packaging for the protection of the works, we generally note the name of the artist on their packaging and systematically repack it with theirs unless it has been damaged during transport, in which case we always have bubble wrap to protect the works. Our priority is that the works are well protected.

- We collaborate with the company Esolution which supervises shipments via the company Fedex and can provide you with a quote if you have the exact measurements of the package to be sent in advance so that you have a shipping budget.
- It is imperative to reserve the round trip for sending your works because from there it is impossible to schedule a return collection, so as the round trip costs you will only be billed the following month that is to say in the month of June the works sold will be deducted from the return price according to the weight but at least we will have the return labels available and the packages directly removed from on the last day because they are packaged and checked by us and delivered by hand to the carrier.
